

Master Class II

The modern trend in urban cleanliness

This Master Class will be explained the way the AEVERSU methodology works.

The sampling principle, the counting system, the calculation of the ratio of 100 m² that makes it possible to compare sectors of different surfaces.

The different soils taken into consideration will be detailed. The example of the city of Versailles will be given to illustrate the results obtained and the usefulness of the city in its plan of action.